

Continuing Education Activities

The following activities can be counted as continuing education activities under ACSLPA's new Continuing Competence Program:

- All college-directed activities (e.g., jurisprudence education requirements, therapeutic boundaries guideline, etc.).
- Attendance at professional/clinical education event(s) (e.g., conference(s), presentations, workshops, webinars, seminars)
- Self-Study (e.g., review of scholarly articles, literature, internet searches)
- Supervision and mentorship of colleagues or students
- Publications in a peer-reviewed journal
- Participation in a study or interest group
- Professional committee work (e.g., ACSLPA committee, SAC or ASHA task force)
- Coursework (online or in-person) including university courses related to profession
- Teaching (online or in-person) of coursework related to profession (e.g., university or college courses)
- Presentation(s)/in-service(s) (e.g., to students, other professionals)
- Presentation by manufacturer

*Please record specific references for the activities you completed, e.g., dates, topics, website URLs, journal article references, conferences and/or courses attended/taught, presentations given, names of committees and organizations where you served on a committee etc.

You can use the Continuing Education Activities Tracking Form to track your continuing education.